President has felt that there are arguments both for and against the proposal that if a stay is granted, the required, pending the decision, to pay into the court the difference between the rates as they exist and as they would exist if the commission's tailing is sustained. The President has emphasized that the main point is appeal to the courts. The Hepburn hill itself, the President believes, allows such an appeal, and so does every other bill proposal coming from Senators Aldrich, Foraker and others who hold similar views looking to a complete retrial of the case by the courts, both as to the law and the facts, the President does not believe in. He believes, as outlined in his speech before the froquois Club last May, that the appeal to the courts should be only to test whether the order of the commission is in whole or in part confiscatory, and also to test the legality of this order.

President has felt that there are arguments both for and against the proposal that if a stay is granted, the railroads shall be required, pending the decision, to pay into the court the difference between the rates as they exist and as they would exist if the commission's ruling is sustained. The President has emphasized that the main point is appeal to the courts. The Hepburn bill itsek, the President believes, allows such an appeal, and so does every other bill proposal coming from Senators Aldrich, Foraker and others who hold similar views looking to a complete retrial of the case by the courts, both as to the law and the facts, the President does not believe in. He believes, as outlined in his speech before the Iroquois Club last May, that the appeal to the courts should be only to test whether the order of the commission is in whole or in part confiscatory, and also to test the legality of this order.

Pifteen years ago her son, John, was given a life sentence in the Columbus Penitenlife sentence in the Columbus Penitentiary for murdering a man. From that day his mother began her efforts to save him. She worked almost day and night for the mere pittances she could get from friends or neighbors in the small town and her toll-worn figure was known in nearly every household in Coshocton. When an undertaker prepared her body for burial, he found sewed in her skirt nearly $500 which the mother had saved to obtain her boy's release.

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Bertha E. Gordon, also known as Mrs. W. A. McCardy of San Francisco, was captive in room 683 of the Portland Hotel while detectives kept constant guard on her door from 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon until shorily after midnight, when she surrendered.

A telegram from her attorney in San Francisco warned Mrs. Gordon that she was wanted there on a felony charge, and when Captain of Detectives Bruen announced himself at her door at 5 o'clock she was suddenly taken ill.

At midnight last night Judge Cameron of the Police Court issued a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Gordon as a fugitive from justice. The warrant was placed in the hands of Capt. Bruen, who went immediately to Mrs. Gordon will also probably door at 5 o'clock she was suddenly taken ill.

At midnight last night Judge Cameron of the Police Court issued a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Gordon as a fugitive from justice. The warrant was placed in the hands of Capt. Bruen, who went immediately to Mrs. Gordon's room in the hotel. She declined to set up, and in a mild way defied the officer to take her. Capt. Bruen informed her that if she did not get up and dress he would wrap her up in a blanket and take her to the Police Station as she was. She then dressed and went to the station.

Stylish Dress Stuffs

Those women who look for true exclusiveness in gown stuffs turn instinctively to Coul-ter's. There is an intangible air of elegance that pervades the entire stock, due to the ex-treme care with which these high-class fabrics are selected by our skilled buyers at home and abroad—an elegance that tells not alone in the materials in the piece, but in the made-up cos-

Notably new are French grays, checks and shadow (or be-lero) plaids; soft, delicately merged effects that are not dupli-cated in the less expensive sorts—$1.90 to $2.50 a yard, 48 inches

Pirst showing here of true imported suitings in checks and a-white and black, white and blue, white and lavender, white and gray-$1.50, $1.75 and $0; 45 and 48 inches wide.

Clever domestic replicas of gray mixtures from foreign looms are on display in a Hill street window, at 75c a yard. For the woman whose dress allowance is limited, these are eminently satisfactory, both as to looks and service.

Custom Tailoring

Our custom tailoring department, on the fourth floor, is now open for the season, and a limited number of orders will be received for making highgrade costumes, plain and fancy gowns, skirts, wraps, etc.

avail yourself of the resources this store offers you.

Washable Wool Finish 53c

For simple walking suits, or visiting and driving, high-class tailors this spring are making up the imported suitings of which these are exact copies—simply another way of saying that wearers of these clever domestic weaves will be gowned in the height of fashion at little expense.

Hairlines, even and broken checks, fancy stripes and novelty figures, with plain colors in plenty, both light and dark, comprise a splendidly complete assortment for selecting from—thirty-five cents a yard.

$2 White Embd. Waist Patterns, 75c

There seems to be no end to the vogue for pretty needlework this spring; and the coming season will be distinctively and emphatically white.

You'll be twice glad, then, to hear of the special price we have placed on the embroidered white waist patterns for which our store is so favorably known.

A limited number of highly mercerised poplin patterns (3 yards of plain material, embroidered hematitched front and embroidered cuffs,) done in a variety of open and blindwork stitches and patterns, on special sale for 75c, because we bought that way.

Mercerized Taffetas

Highly stylish for street suits are these yarn-mercerized large and small shepherd checked taffetas, in navy and white or black and white combinations. Because they're washable they make practical and attractive suits: asc, asc and soc a yard.

$5.00 Tailored Waists $3.00

A fortunate purchase on our part puts this good luck in your way —the opportunity to buy two waists for little above the usual price of one. Distinctly new waists, too; not an old style in the lot.

Imported mercerised corded poplins, in tan, navy, red, black and white pure Irish linens, comprise the ma-terials; styles are strictly tailored, with finely tucked backs, hand-made button-holes, etc.

Every well posted woman will pro-nounce them extremely good values at five dollars. Special price $3, in all

Exclusive Imported Silks

A Broadway window has been devoted to a display of these single dress patterns, suitable for evening or dinner gowns; moires with pompadour designs in the warp; light, supple and indescribably elegant; soft shades with old-fashioned roses, and wreaths in rich clusters very artistically arranged, bold without being heavy, and velvety in general effect, with nature's colorings closely followed; shaded silks that melt into each other with a delicacy of tone hard to imagine, so exquisitely and imperceptibly are they blended. Adequate verbal description is impossible, and the window only hints at the wealth within. Two to six dollars a yard.

Low Prices on Comfortables

The linen store presents a timely sale of just the articles that practically everyone wants to buy now in anticipation of spring's coming.

72272 cotton comforts, figured on both sides, reduced from Gr.as to Br each.

Larger size (75xy8,) in same quality but a pound heavier, reduced from 81.85 to $1.50.

72278 light-weight comforts, filled with single-sheet cotton, in light and medium designs, extra well made and finished; reduced from $0.05 to $1.50.

The New Embroideries

Noteworthy from the standards of beauty and variety is the spring exhibit of embroideries here. We've been gathering from the newest, choicest designs, from all quarters, in ample time for the beginning of spring sewing. And what a superb collection they make. Here are quarter, half, three-quarter and full flounces of embroidery almost as fine as hand work, on soft Swiss, nain-sook or French mull, with Valenciennes lace, tiny tuckings and hemstitchings combined, and bands to match from two to seven inches wide.

Then there are attractive Venice lace and embroidery combinations in haby Irish patterns; and an exquisite novelty in embroidered fronts for waists—the needlework done on the right and left sides, with plain material between, to be tucked or hemstitched at the wearer's desire. Round mesh, French and Calais Valenciennes laces are coming in every day in bewilderingly pretty assortments—the best conceits of the most deft workers, and all priced as we price everything—reasonably.

Spring Housefurnishings

The matter of replenishing furnishings and supplying fresh spring draperies is the reigning question now, and one that involves many dollars; so that sharp, telling price concessions are unusually welcome. We've prepared on a broader scale than ever before. Every article is guaranteed to be first quality; we never carry seconds nor inferior grades. If your need doesn't appear on the list, come in anyway, for we have it, and at prices lower than ever.

Prices quoted below are for sizes 9x18 only; but all other sizes may be had at similar reductions, during this week

First quality Amminster rugs, specially priced at $21.85. Roxbury tapestry rugs, specially priced at $15.85. Ten-wire tapestry rugs, specially priced at $18 and

The incident occurred within 200 yards of the depot, and was witnessed by Constable O. C. We assure you that if taken when you first discover indications of an attack, they will drive it away, and thus not only save you the misery and distress, but the weakening influence of pain upon your system. Used in this way the attacks become less frequent, and eventually entirely disappear. They relieve pain by strengthening the nerves and overcoming the turbulent, excited condition,

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

E. C. Hauser entertained a party of friends at dinner last night at the Jonathan Club. The table was set for six and the dinner was worthy of Hauser's reputation as an epicurean. Those who partook of the feast were Messrs. E. C. Hauser, D. R. Bradford, Joseph Breaze, J. A. Hauser and H. J. Hauser.

"Why is this called Pie-co street?"
asked one turist of another as the car whirled past the thoroughfare named from the Spanish don, the late Pio Pico.
"Why," don't you know?" asked her companion, who hailed from Boston.
"It is to avoid the uniucky number 13.
You see, this is really Thirteenth street, as numbers go. I remember in Hoston, we had a hotel thirteen stories high, and, do you know, it was simply impossible to get anyone to occupy rooms on the top floor. People are so superstitious about that number." "Yes, that's so," observed her friend. "My oousin's family in New York lived in a house numbered 1213, and while they were there, their lovely pet parrot fied, their children all had measies, and my cousin fell and broke his leg.
So they moved."

Should he do this, he will be forever an "outlaw" with the "organization." A man may beat his little crippled sister to death with a club and possibly be forgiven, but a man who bolts his party goes down to eternal perdition—in the opinion of the "push."

Cain, who slew his brother Abel, was a good fellow alongside George Alexander, elected Supervisor in opposition to a "heeler" of the "push"—as the organization looks at such things.

Col. Chapman of Covina, one of the McClay boys of San Fernando and a man named Thompson of the Title Insurance and Trust Company have been mentioned for Ward's place.
